

Stükerjürgen Aerospace Composites GmbH: Cable Support

Cable Support: a small thing with a big impact

In an aircraft cables are exposed to permanent stress. Therefore, they need to be supported by reliable and appropriate devices:

CABLE SUPPORTS made by Stükerjürgen Aerospace Composites GmbH (SAC).

SAC has been manufacturing products using injection molding for more than 35 years. These many years of experience combined with the increased requirements regarding precision for repeating and fitting, dimensional stability and colour accuracy have led to the existence of perfect injection molded articles such as the cable supports.

It is the company's objective to always find the most economical solution.

SAC is the Airbus approved manufacturer for cable supports as shown in the table hereunder:
